

GUARD NEGROES, HELD FOR RAPE- DEATH IN SOUTH

Mob Frustrated in Effort to Lynch Suspects Yesterday

Birmingham, Ala., March 30.—(AP)—Four negro suspects in the attack and slaying of Miss Vivian Woodward, 19, at Huntsville, Ala., were placed in the county jail here at 5:35 A. M. today, after they were brought from Huntsville by automobile under escort of National guardsmen.

Twenty-four guardsmen and three state highway patrolmen accompanied the negroes. The trip from Huntsville was without incident.

With the simple notation, "hold for Huntsville," the four were placed in jail on the eighth floor of the stone courthouse, considered as mob-proof and escape-proof. In nearby cells the nine negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case" are held.

Mob Action Averted
Mob action against the prisoners was averted shortly after the negroes' capture late yesterday.

Huntsville officers and highway patrolmen took the four men from angry possums and later used tear gas to disperse a crowd that gathered menacingly around the jail. Governor Bibb Graves later ordered three companies of National Guardsmen to Huntsville.

Bloodhounds, picking up a trail at the attack scene behind a private garage, police said, followed it to the house occupied by the negroes. In a ditch near the house, deputies said a blood-stained vest was found.

Miss Woodward disappeared Saturday night after attending a picture theater alone.

Girl Found Dying
At dawn, after an all-night search, she was found, attacked and dying, her skull crushed. She died Sunday afternoon without regaining consciousness.

Men armed with rifles and clubs followed the officers' bloodhounds and anticipated the authorities in taking the negroes at their house. Before the mob could act, however, the officers and state patrolmen snatched the suspects from the possums' hands and rushed them to jail.

Charges were placed against the negroes listed as Eugene Hambrick, 24; James McCauley, 19; Woodrow Wilson Mills, 19; and Ira Jolley, 17.

Lynchburg, Va., March 30.—(AP)—An autopsy was ordered today to determine the cause of death of Mrs. Martha Catherine Creasy, 20, whose body was found, lying in a pool of blood, on a main road just outside the city early Sunday.

Three young men, A. P. Thompson, 33, of Lynchburg; Otis Woodbridge, 26; and Harold E. Woodridge, 23, brothers of Timberlake road, were held for questioning. Commonwealth's Attorney S. James Thompson of Campbell county ordered the autopsy on Mrs. Creasy's body to ascertain if she had been shot or stabbed to death before being left on the roadway. Investigators also believed she might have been thrown from a moving automobile.

Taught Children At Home; Running For School Board

Joliet, Ill., March 30.—(AP)—Joseph S. Watson, former Joliet high school science teacher who defied school and court authorities for more than two months by keeping his two eldest daughters from their public school classes, said today he was a candidate for election to the high school board.

Watson charged, during the legal battle, that the schools, because of what he said was an antiquated system, stifled the learning desires of more able pupils and held them to the learning pace of the poorest students in the class. These better students, he said, were turned out as "morons."

For two months he taught two of his five daughters at their home. His instruction included lessons in a revolutionary phonetic alphabet which he said permitted his daughters to learn to read more rapidly than if they studied the "A B C's."

His children are now back in their classrooms.

McIntyre Appointed Merchant Policeman

J. F. McIntyre, 528 East River street, has been appointed by Commissioner Cal G. Tyler of the department of public health and safety, to serve as merchant police, his duties beginning Wednesday, April 1. He will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Peter C. Kelly. Mr. McIntyre has been a resident of Dixon for years and for some time past has been a member of Sheriff Ward Miller's force of deputies, in which capacity he served most efficiently. For the past several months he has been employed at the Brown shoe company plant.

SOME ODDITIES IN TODAY'S A. P. WORLD NEWS REPORT

$4,000 FOR SEVEN TEETH
Waukegan, Ill., March 30.—(AP)—Ever since he had seven teeth knocked out in an automobile accident, Arnold Prusi told the jury, his saxophone playing had been "fuzzy." He blamed it on the false teeth which replaced the lost ones. The jury awarded a $4,000 verdict against the driver of the other car.

FREAK OF STORM
Shelby, N. C., March 30.—(AP)—Lightning struck just as Yates Hawkins and his Negro helper, Marvin Byers, were delivering furniture at the home of Mrs. M. B. Kennedy. The hood of the truck seemed to take fire. The top of the cab was burned away. The underpinning of Mrs. Kennedy's house was scattered. Windows were broken and a radio was demolished. But no one was hurt.

REAL "EASY" MONEY
LaSalle, Ill., March 30.—(AP)—Imagine the surprise of Mayor H. M. Orr today when he received a government check for $21,624 with no explanation for its issuance. From signatures, the mayor surmised it was a PWA grant to be used in building a $185,000 intercepting sewer system.

"No," the mayor said, "I'll not cash it until I am certain as to all the details."

CATTLE DIED IN FIRE
Freeport, Ill., March 30.—(AP)—Twenty-four head of cattle were burned to death today when fire caused by lightning destroyed a barn on the Lester Rothelme farm near Adeline, Ill.

ELEVEN KILLED IN DIXIE BUS- TRAIN ACCIDENT

Byron, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—Investigators sought today to fix the blame for the train-motor bus crash here in which 11 persons lost their lives.

Three persons remained in a serious condition in Macon hospitals. The accident occurred Saturday night.

Central of Georgia Railroad officials sought to learn why their train thundered into the bus at a speed of 30-35 miles an hour. Officials of the bus line (Southern Stages) also were believed to be conducting an investigation of the tragedy but had issued no statement. The bus driver, O. H. Looney of Macon, died yesterday without regaining consciousness.

Engineer C. H. Hall and Conductor J. H. Howell of the Macon-Albany local estimated their speed at 30-35 miles an hour and the former said it was impossible for him to stop after he saw the bus. The entire train, consisting of locomotive, three express cars and two coaches, was derailed but the cars did not overturn and railroad officials said no passengers were hurt. Ten of those killed were Georgia residents. One was unidentified.

Two Minor Fires in Amboy on Saturday

(Telegraph Special Service)
Amboy, March 30.—The fire department responded to two alarms Saturday afternoon, the first time being called to the Ralph Barlow residence on Strobel avenue and the second call to the Amboy city park. The garage at the Barlow home was slightly damaged and at the park the brush between Green river and the playgrounds was completely burned off. The flames ruined the grass from the east entrance to the playground and a large picnic table was burned. Sunday evening the department was called to the old Illinois Central freight house where a minor blaze was extinguished with very slight damage to the property.

IGOE SEES FARLEY
Washington—March 30.—(AP)—Michael L. Igoe, U. S. District Attorney at Chicago, came to the Capitol today to discuss the Illinois political situation with James Hamilton, Secretary of the Interior, Harold Ickes and Senator James Hamilton Lewis.

Roosevelt's Program of Borrowing Will Be Recorded as "Most Glaring Failure in All History"

Detroit, March 30.—(AP)—Father Charles E. Coughlin's criticism of the Roosevelt administration included a prediction that future historians will consider its program of "borrowing the nation out of debt and misery" as "the most glaring failure in the annals of all history." The reason he said in an address broadcast yesterday, is that the 35 billion dollar dollars expended to drain the floodwaters of depression must be repaid by the "sweat of our brow with the coin of honest labor and of exacting services which the bankers did not perform to obtain the money they originated."

CONFESSIONS OF FOUR MURDERERS DULY WITNESSED

Possible Repudiations are Forestalled by Unusual Procedure

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—Confessions to the slaying of Dr. Silber C. Peacock—signed by four young hoodlums before a "jury" of ten citizens—were in the hands of the state today.

The signatures were affixed in an unusual session at the Criminal courts building last night as a precaution against repudiation of the admissions at the trial of the accused youths.

Robert Goethe, Durland Nash and Emil Reck, each 19, and Michael Livingston, 17, were brought singly into a room. In the presence of five physicians, five business men, three assistant prosecutors, two police captains and Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan statements recounting how they killed the pediatrician in a $20 robbery were read.

Officials reported the "teen age gangsters" smiled and wrote their names. The witnesses also signed the documents.

In Sixty Holdups
Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley said they also voluntarily answered questions concerning the 60 other holdups in which they have been implicated.

"A jury may not believe the testimony of officials actively engaged in the prosecution of a criminal that his confession was given without compulsion," Crowley explained. "But the testimony of impartial observers would not be challenged."

Crowley announced he would seek the indictment of the quartet tomorrow and press for a speedy trial.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Kearney said the prisoners had implicated themselves in the fatal shooting of Ellen Anderson and Peter Payor and the wounding of two men during robberies, but discrepancies in their stories made a check necessary.

Chiropractors in District Meeting

Fifty members attended the regular monthly meeting of the northwestern district Illinois Chiropractic society held in the Hotel Dixon Sunday. The meeting was an all-day affair.

Present at the session were President G. A. Eberhardt of Oak Park, president of the board, and Dr. W. H. Knaul, of East St. Louis.

Annual elections were held, and out of courtesy to Dr. S. Chandler Bend who was retiring from official duty, the attendance was larger than usual in tribute to the local doctor who brought the state chiropractic convention to Dixon during his term.

FLYING CADET KILLED

Mt. Clemens, Mich., March 30.—(AP)—Flying Cadet Charles E. Kramer, 23, of Selfridge Field, was killed today when the pursuit plane in which he was making a solo training flight crashed two miles north of New Baltimore. Kramer's home was at Fulton, Ky.

Flood Triplets

New Kensington, Pa., March 30.—(AP)—The tiny misses "A. B. and C." who came into the world two months too soon because of the flood, seemed today to have a good chance for life.

The triplets, all blue-eyed girls, were born to 21-year-old Mrs. Iona Hughes in a village 12 miles away and Dr. H. M. Welsh rushed them to the New Kensington hospital in a clothes basket.

In electric incubators they sleep peacefully between feedings with medicine droppers. Dr. R. A. Wolff, who is taking care of them, said that each has "an excellent chance of surviving the experiences of her flood era birth."

Cemetery Gates to be Open from 7 to 8

Supt. William Odenhal of Oakwood cemetery announced today that the gates of the cemetery, commencing April 1, will be open from 7 A. M. until 8 P. M. He also called attention to rules which forbid children in the cemetery, especially on bicycles. Yesterday an unidentified young rider narrowly escaped being run down by an automobile while bicycling on the cemetery drives.

SUPREME COURT RULES COMPANY VIOLATES ACT

Most Important of Anti-Trust Suits in Many Years

Washington, March 30.—(AP)—In a ruling on one of the most important anti-trust suits in recent years, the Supreme Court held today that certain practices of the Sugar Institute, Inc., violate the Sherman act barring restraint of competition.

The decision had been eagerly awaited by some trade associations as a guide to the extent they could go toward self-regulation. They had wondered about their status since the court's invalidation of NRA.

The unanimous opinion, read by Chief Justice Hughes, affirmed with some modifications the ruling of Federal Judge Julian W. Mack at New York that most of the institute's practices ran counter to the anti-trust act.

Formed in 1928 by 15 cane sugar refining companies, the institute was described by its backers as intended to eliminate "secret discriminations" and other "abuses" of the industry.

Sought Dissolution
In 1931 the government sued for its dissolution, contending the members produced from 70 to 80 percent of all the refined sugar sold in the United States and competition was curtailed.

Appealing to the Supreme Court from Judge Mack's ruling, the sugar refiners said "the case involves the most elaborate legal test of the activities of a trade association ever undertaken by the government."

"Because of the collapse of the federal government's attempt at trade regulation under the NRA," they added, "commerce and industry are looking to this court for guidance in determining what they may do to abolish destructive and dishonest trade abuses without being held guilty of violating the federal anti-trust laws."

Perhaps the principal issue was legality of an agreement to sell sugar only at prices and terms openly announced in advance of sale and banning discriminations among customers.

Judge Mack held this produced "undue restraint of trade." The government contended that "full publicity of all closed transactions would effectively put an end to secret concessions."

The court deferred today for at least one week its decisions on constitutionality of the Guffey coal and 1933 securities acts.

Fourteen opinions were delivered, all unanimous.

According to a request by the government, the court refused to pass at the present time on constitutionality of the public utility holding company act.

British Avoid Military Pact

London, March 30.—(AP)—Prime Minister Baldwin assured the House of Commons today that the British staff would not be allowed to involve the government in any commitments in the forthcoming consultations with the French and Belgian army commands concerning mutual defense against possible German aggression.

The prime minister's statement was made shortly after he and his cabinet had discussed a date upon which the consultations might be started. A wave of suspicion and distrust moved through parliamentary quarters.

Baldwin said the cabinet would review everything to which the general staffs agreed and stated: "Assurance on that question was given the House during a recent debate and I confirm it now."

Child Dead, Woman Unconscious From Gas In Apartment

St. Louis, March 30.—(AP)—Police, breaking into the apartment of Miss Myrtle Wilkinson, 35, today found her unconscious from gas and Marilyn Morgan, 8 years old, dead in the bathtub.

Revived with an inhalator, Miss Wilkinson told officers the child's mother, Mrs. Helen Morgan, had taken Marilyn, whom she had raised since she was a child, from her and had forbade her seeing it.

"So I put the little girl in the bathtub," officers quoted her, "and filled the tub with water. I don't remember whether I pushed her under or not. Then I turned on the gas and that's all I know."

Two "Confessions" Bob Up to Bring Hauptmann Hope of Reprieve Today

(Copyright, 1936, By The AP)
Trenton, N. J., March 30.—The long shadow of the Lindbergh baby murder fell across two more men today even as the Court of Pardons met to consider the mercy plea of the condemned third—Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

One of the new figures in the increasingly bewildering case—the middle-aged, clergyman's son, Paul H. Wendel—was held in jail here. A formal charge of having murdered the baby was filed against him, but he issued a statement denying any knowledge of the crime, and the county prosecutor said he, too, was convinced there was nothing to warrant prosecution.

"Admissions" Do Not Impress Prosecutors of Bruno

(Copyright, 1936, By The AP)
Trenton, N. J., March 30.—The long shadow of the Lindbergh baby murder fell across two more men today even as the Court of Pardons met to consider the mercy plea of the condemned third—Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

One of the new figures in the increasingly bewildering case—the middle-aged, clergyman's son, Paul H. Wendel—was held in jail here. A formal charge of having murdered the baby was filed against him, but he issued a statement denying any knowledge of the crime, and the county prosecutor said he, too, was convinced there was nothing to warrant prosecution.

The other man—Gaston B. Means, former federal agent and now a federal prisoner for having fleeced Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean by pretending to be an intermediary in ransom negotiations with the Lindbergh baby kidnapers—stood self-accused by a "confession," purportedly penned in his Leavenworth penitentiary cell.

Bruno Center of Interest
The focus of interest, however, burned with increasing brightness upon the principal figure, Bruno Richard Hauptmann. The question to be answered either by the Court of Pardons or by Governor Harold G. Hoffman was whether Hauptmann would die as scheduled at 9 o'clock tomorrow night.

The bizarre drama that found preparations being made to execute Hauptmann while the others were in widely separated cells, one directly charged with the crime and the other "confessing" it, was made even more weird and confusing by the conflict of official opinion concerning the new developments.

Erwin E. Marshall, Mercer (Trenton) county prosecutor, said he believed Wendel didn't know anything about the Lindbergh case except what he read in the newspapers.

On the other hand, James S. Kirkham, chief detective of Mercer county, who signed the murder complaint, said that in his opinion Wendel was "positively" connected with the murder in the Sourland hills four years ago.

Claims "Substantiation"
Kirkham said beside the repudiated confession he had other evidence to "substantiate the charge."

Wendel, awakened shortly after midnight yesterday for arraignment on the murder charge, pleaded "not guilty," and later issued the statement repudiating the confession which, he said, was obtained by torture and force.

"I did sign several statements, which were false, which implicated me," Wendel wrote to Attorney General David T. Whelton. "I was forced by torture and brutal treatment in New York, where I was detained from February 14 to February 24, 1936."

"From that date until today I was detained by Ellis Parker (chief of Burlington county detectives) at the state colony at New Lisbon, N. J., under guard."

Parker replied emphatically that no force was used in detaining Wendel, adding: "If the Wendel incident investigation is not conducted properly, I will tell what I know, and there's a lot I haven't told."

Called Voluntary Patient
The superintendent of the state colony for feeble minded at New Lisbon, Dr. Carroll T. Jones, said Wendel was a voluntary patient, and produced the following paper, dated February 24, 1936:

"I am willing to stay in your custody until this investigation is concluded, Signed: P. H. Wendel."

"I treated him like a guest," Dr. Jones said.

Prosecutor Marshall was considering what action to take on the Wendel case.

Wendel is 51 years old, a former Trenton druggist and lawyer. He was convicted in 1932 of perjury and sentenced to the workhouse, as well as being dishonored. He charged he was "framed" and the Court of Pardons granted him a full pardon, followed by his reinstatement to the bar.

An investigation into charges involving forgery in 1930 was followed by Wendel's resignation from the bar. In 1932 he became a voluntary patient at the state hospital, remaining four days. Prosecutor Marshall said yesterday that embitterment charges which were laid against him about that time are still pending against him.

Repudiated "Confession"
His "confession," which he now repudiates, quotes him as admitting the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby and as the writer of the ransom note found in the baby's nursery. He said he made no effort to collect ransom, and that he disposed of the body when the

F. ENOCH SELF DIED SATURDAY NIGHT AT HOME

F. E. Self, widely known and highly respected citizen of Dixon and community for many years, passed away at his home, 1009 Highland avenue, Saturday evening at 9 o'clock. He had attained the age of 80 years and his death ended an illness of one week's duration. For many years he followed the blacksmith trade in Dixon, from which activity he retired some years ago.

His wife preceded him in death and he is survived by three daughters and three sons as follows: Mrs. Lloyd Emmert and Mrs. Clinton Emmert of this city; Mrs. Frank Merriman of Buhl, Idaho; Charles of Palo Alto, Cal.; Grafton of Twin Falls, Idaho; and Roy of Los Angeles, Cal. A daughter, Gertrude, preceded him in death in infancy.

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at the late home at 1:30 and at the Christian church at 2 o'clock, Rev. James A. Barnett officiating. Interment will be at the Washington Grove cemetery, north of Ashton. The complete obituary will be published later.

Fools Escaped

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—William Winterborn, 26, and Miss Grace Riemer, 26, were aware today that riding horseback is no way to cross a railroad trestle.

When they tried to ride across a Chicago & North Western railroad bridge on rented steeds yesterday, one horse put his leg between two ties and was trapped. Then a fast passenger train bore down on horses and riders.

Winterborn's horse escaped by leaping from the bridge into a creek. So did the riders. The trapped horse was killed by the train.

Dixon Young Man Becomes Assistant Sales Manager of Big Cement Company; Headquarters in South

Robert E. Fulton, Jr., Dixon native and graduate of the Dixon high school in the class of 1915, will on April 1st become assistant sales manager of the Atlas Cement Co., a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, the advancement to the important position coming in recognition of his very efficient services to the company. The young man's countless local friends will rejoice in his merited promotion. He will be connected with the southern headquarters of the concern at Birmingham, Ala.

After graduating from Dixon high school he attended the University of Illinois, completing the course with honors in 1919, with a degree of B. S. At once he took a position with the Illinois division of highways and for six years was district engineer in charge of in-

PARDONS COURT HEARING PLEAS FOR HAUPTMANN

New Jersey Governor Leads Fight to Save Bruno's Life

Trenton, N. J., March 30.—(AP)—A representative of the New Jersey state police was called before the Court of Pardons today with the Flemington trial testimony of Arthur J. Koehler, federal wood expert, who swore it was his opinion Bruno Richard Hauptmann built the Lindbergh kidnap ladder.

The call for the testimony, which included that part pertaining to Koehler's qualifications as an expert, was made after the court had been in session about two and a half hours.

It was regarded as an indication that Governor Harold G. Hoffman, who has questioned the state's contention Hauptmann built the ladder, was pressing his fight in Hauptmann's behalf in this direction.

One Justice Absent
It was learned the court, composed of the governor, Chancellor Luther A. Campbell, and six lay judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals, only five of whom attended the executive session, was especially interested in the testimony that qualified Koehler as an expert.

Governor Hoffman last Thursday visited Hauptmann's Bronx home to see for himself the attic flooring from which the state contended, Hauptmann took a board which became rail 16 of the ladder, and one of the most damaging pieces of evidence in the trial.

On his Bronx visit the governor was accompanied by Arch W. Loney, PWA engineer, who later reported to the governor it was his opinion the disputed rail did not come from the attic.

At Hauptmann's trial Edward J. Reilly, then the carpenter's chief defense counsel strenuously fought Koehler's qualifications as an expert.

Talk of Fingerprints.
The governor himself pointed out last week the ladder had been handled by many police officers and others as Hopewell and later in Washington, that it had been taken apart for study, and that while hundreds of fingerprints were found on it, none of Hauptmann's had ever been found.

At the trial a New York physician and fingerprint expert, Dr. Erasmus M. Hudson, described how he had used his special process to obtain fingerprints, how he had found numerous prints scattered all over the three-section affair, but had found none of Hauptmann's.

Albert B. Hermann, clerk of the court, came from the conference room shortly before 2 o'clock and said that a decision probably would not be reached before 4 P. M.

Hermann said the lawyers had not yet completed their arguments.

Nail Holes "Clogged."
The defense also has attacked, not only at the trial but since, the nail holes in the ladder. The state contended there were four holes in rail 16, marking the nails by which the board had been attached to the attic joists.

When the governor and his party went to the Bronx last week they carried rail 16, laid it on the joists and inserted nails in the holes. The nails did not slip all the way down, and after some discussion sections of the joists were taken out, and the party proceeded to a Columbia University laboratory.

There the joists were opened at the nail holes, and in the holes were discovered traces of a woody substance which had prevented the nails from entering all the way.

May Get "Confessions."
As the court met, Paul H. Wendel, 51-year-old dishonored Trenton lawyer, was still being held in Mercer county jail on a charge of having murdered the Lindbergh baby.

There was an unconfirmed report the governor would place before the court a "confession" made in Leavenworth Federal penitentiary by Gaston B. Means, who is serving a term there for having defrauded Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, Washington society matron, out of $104,000 by telling her he could recover the Lindbergh baby. This "confession" has been discounted by the department of justice, and Wendel has repudiated his statement that he committed the crime.

Cite "Hoax" Trial
Robert W. Hicks, criminologist, who has been investigating the crime for Governor Hoffman, came to the state house with a controversy which was used in Hauptmann's Bronx home last Thursday when the governor and others went there to examine at first hand the attic flooring from which the state contends, rail 16 of the kidnap ladder was taken.

The apparatus, it was said, was used in an attempt to show that the saw marks on the attic board and on rail 16 had been made at a dif-

PRUNES INSTEAD.

By Joseph Fort Newton.

ON the door of a little church in a southern town a reader tells me he read the following notice not long ago:

"The Annual Strawberry Festival will be celebrated on Tuesday evening next. Tickets, $1.50. Everybody invited. N. B.—In consequence of the Depression Prunes will be served instead."

"How like life," my reader adds; "it tantalizes us with strawberries and fobs us off with prunes. Some folks bravely protest that they like prunes as well as, or even better, than strawberries."

"But that will not do. Izaak Walton was right when he said that doubtless God could have made a better berry than the strawberry, but doubtless He never did. And to put up with prunes instead!"

"For my part, I'm not going to cheat myself by pretending, like the fox in the fable, that strawberries are not good because they are out of reach. Nor do I want any lecture on the virtues of prunes, at least of all when delivered by those who eat strawberries every day."

It makes one think of the story of Eugene Field, the poet of Little Boy Blue. He was a guest in a famous home in Chicago, when strawberries were served in mid-winter, having been brought from afar.

Field did not touch the strawberries, and his hostess, made ill at ease by the act, asked him if anything was wrong. "No," he drawled out, "they look good, but they will spoil my taste for prunes."

Life is largely a matter of dealing with the second-best. It seldom lives up to its promises, and we have to take a substitute; and the only question is how to take it, and in what spirit.

At times, prunes actually turn out to be strawberries. Hans Anderson wanted to write novels and plays, but he could not make a go of it. Instead, to keep alive, he wrote stories like Ugly Duckling.

Today his plays, if ever written, are forgotten, but his fairy stories are immortal. Let us cheer up, eat the stuff life gives us, make the best of it, without too much fussing and fuming.

Egg Souffle

4 tablespoons butter

4 tablespoons flour

1 1/2 cups milk

1-4 teaspoon salt

1-4 teaspoon celery salt

1-4 teaspoon paprika

1-8 teaspoon chopped onion

4 egg yolks

4 egg whites, beaten

Melt butter, add flour. When mixed add milk and seasonings.

Cook until thick sauce forms, stir constantly. Add yolks and beat two minutes. Fold in whites and pour into buttered baking dish or ring mold. Bake thirty minutes in hot water in moderately slow oven. Let stand five minutes in water outside the oven. Carefully remove to heated platter and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Rhubarb Sauce

5 cups diced peeled rhubarb

1-3 cup water

2 cups sugar

1-8 teaspoon soda

Wash and dice rhubarb. Add water. Cover and cook 5 minutes or until rhubarb is soft. Add rest of ingredients and boil 3 minutes. If very fresh tender rhubarb is used it does not need to be peeled and the pink color from the skin is appetizing.

"Best Dressed" Women Picked by Designers; A New List

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Fashion designers picked a new list of "best dressed" women Saturday.

The list, prepared by a poll conducted by Emil Alvin Hartman, director of the Rockefeller Center Fashion Academy, names as leaders in their respective fields:

Kay Francis—The movies.

Princess Ketto Mikeladze—Society.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody—Sports.

Jane Pickens—The radio.

Sheila Barrett—Night clubs.

Mrs. James J. Farley—Public life.

Helen Gleason—The opera.

Ilyka Chase—The stage.

Previous winners of the Fashion Academy awards, among whom were Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Gladys Swarthout, Constance Cummings, Irene Bordoni, Lina Claire, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Betty Morris, and Mary I. Brown, were not eligible for the selections this year.

Meeting of Thursday Reading Circle March 26th

A most enjoyable afternoon was spent by the Thursday Reading Circle at the home of Mrs. C. W. Mumma on March 26. Sixteen members and two visitors were present. All missed the faithful secretary who was detained at home with a severe cold.

The program was in charge of Mrs. Lydia Parks who read from Anne Morrow Lindbergh's book, "North to the Orient," which was extremely interesting and most thoroughly enjoyed. A reading by Mrs. Henry Hintz was also enjoyed and much appreciated. A guessing game taxed the ability and memory of those present and proved very diverting, after which the hostesses served most delicious refreshments and all lingered over the coffee cups for a social time, loath to leave the happy afternoon.

WAWOKIYE CLUB TO MEET—

An all-day meeting of the Wawokiye club will be held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Chas. Hahn, Lincoln Highway, west.

ENTERTAINED SUNDAY EVENING SUPPER—

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Tyler entertained with a Sunday evening supper a few friends.

Mrs. R. Derr Hostess to Bible Class

The Women's Bible Class of the Methodist Episcopal church held their monthly meeting on last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Raymond Derr.

The meeting opened by singing. Mrs. E. J. Brown had the devotions, reading the 20th Chapter of John, followed by prayer.

A short business meeting followed during which it was voted to send the annual Easter donation of eggs to the Methodist Episcopal Old People's Home in Chicago.

Mrs. George Carpenter read a letter written to the class by Mrs. Mary Deutsch now in St. Petersburg, Fla. It was very much enjoyed, and all are looking forward to soon having her with us again. Our hostess, Mrs. Derr was presented with a gift of remembrance from the class as she is leaving us soon for her future home in Freeport.

Mrs. Derr has been a faithful member and will be missed. She responded with a gracious acceptance assuring us she would visit the class often.

Miss Estella Anderson, our program chairman then introduced Mrs. Adolph Eichler who gave a book review entitled "Spring Came on Forever," by Bess Streater All-dridge.

This is a beautiful, pathetic love story extending over a period of nearly a century. The awakening of love by the first two mentioned characters reaching its culmination in the third generation nearly three score years later.

This book was excellently given, the well modulated voice of Mrs. Eichler going rapidly from one happening to another made it a most pleasant half hour that was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Gebhardt and her committee, a social hour following.

Dixon Girl Is Bride Oregon Man

Saturday night, March 21, at 8.30 at the Baptist parsonage occurred a quiet but very pretty wedding, when Miss Alice M. Wernick, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lostutter of Dixon, became the bride of Hilary Brown of Oregon. Attending the young couple were Mr. and Mrs. Lostutter, Rev. W. W. Marshall, pastor of the Baptist church, performed the ceremony.

The bride a charming blonde, was dressed in a blue swaggar suit with matching accessories while Mrs. Lostutter was in brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home on West First street, Dixon.

Those present at the wedding beside the bridal party were Mrs. George Brown, the mother of the groom; Mrs. Wm. Myers, Mr. and Mrs. H. Adams and son, Gertus. After the wedding the party went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adams where a lovely supper was served. Both Oregon and Dixon friends join in wishing the young couple happiness in their wedded life.

20th Century Club Meeting Enjoyed

The Twentieth Century Literary club met Thursday evening with Mrs. John Nelles and everyone had a most delightful evening.

After roll call a short business session was held.

The program followed.

Mrs. C. J. McLean gave a very interesting paper on American Poets.

Mrs. Wilbur Winn discussed the New York Times.

A social hour followed, the hostess serving very tempting refreshments.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. E. B. Ryan, April 9th.

MISS ANNE EUSTACE TO SPEAK ON HOLLAND—

Miss Anne Eustace will speak before a joint session of the Woman's clubs of Buda and Sheffield, Ill., on Wednesday, April 1st.

Miss Eustace will speak on Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nehring Honored

Saturday evening Miss Daisy LeFevre entertained a company of friends at her home, the event honoring Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Nehring, recently married. There were 16 guests present who spent the evening playing 500, after which delicious refreshments were served. The honored guests were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts and at a late hour all departed for their homes, having spent a most enjoyable evening.

ST. JAMES AID TO MEET ALL DAY WEDNESDAY—

The Ladies Aid society of St. James church will hold an all day meeting, Wednesday, April 1, at the church, with a picnic dinner at noon.

ENTERTAINED A FEW FRIENDS AT TEA—

Miss Mae Louise Eichler entertained Sunday afternoon a few friends at tea.

POYNTON TO WIN OLYMPIC POINTS

Pointing for the Olympics is Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill, who already holds the diving title in these games, having won at Los Angeles in 1932. Judging from a few of the fine points displayed in her diving, as shown above, and in her puerility, below, during a training session in Los Angeles, she should have little trouble in repeating.

Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carr

Sunday, March 29th, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carr celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary with a family dinner. There were fourteen present to enjoy the sumptuous repast. The table decorations were gold candlesticks and a centerpiece of nasturtiums and asparagus ferns, was very pretty.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr were married sixty years ago by Father Holne, then pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church.

All the children were present except Henry of Pasadena, Calif., and George and Beatie of St. Louis, Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr are highly respected citizens and their many friends join in extending best wishes to them. Mr. Carr who has been ill most of the winter, is much improved.

Mrs. Hubert Gaensslen, of Chicago, Asel Hackett and son Robert, of Edison Park, Chicago, were out-of-town relatives in attendance.

Bori Sang Swan Song Last Night

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Lucresia Bori's 28 years of operatic stardom was at an end today.

The famous soprano sang her swan song last night on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House and then received the audience's ovation to herself and her voice.

Miss Bori had one of her favorite roles—the part of Violetta in "Traviata" for the first part of the program. She closed the show with Richard Crooks and Leon Rothier in "Manon."

Afterward, Mrs. Vincent Astor presented Miss Bori with a diamond pendant once worn by the Empress Eugenie, and Mrs. August Belmont presented a gold traveling clock, the gift of the Metropolitan Opera Guild.

Barbara's Baby Is Named "Lance"

London, March 30.—(AP)—Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow registered the birth of his son today, disclosing that the new born heir to part of the Woolworth millions is named Lance.

The baby, just a bit more than a month old, had his daily airing in his perambulator in a private park while his mother, Countess Barbara Hulton Haugwitz-Reventlow, went outdoors for the first time since the baby's birth and her own serious illness.

Evelyn Jones of Oregon Married Saturday Afternoon

The marriage of Miss Evelyn Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Jones, 305 South 3rd street, Oregon, to James Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Beck of Oregon, took place at 4 P. M. Saturday at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. G. B. Draper, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church in Oregon read the service in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride, who wore a white satin gown, was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Jones, who wore pink silk crepe. Both carried tea roses. Gerald Beck, brother of the groom, was best man. During the ceremony Miss Pauline Jones, sister of the bride, played nuptial airs.

Following the service a wedding luncheon was served, and Mr. Beck and his bride left for a wedding trip to Chicago. On their return they will reside at 301 South 3rd street, Oregon.

The bride was graduated from Oregon high school in 1934. Her father is superintendent of the Schiller Piano company in Oregon. The groom is with the G. S. Woodling confectionery store there.

Prof. Baldwin And Wife Celebrated Fiftieth Anniversary

Last Tuesday, March 24th, was the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Professor and Mrs. H. V. Baldwin, former residents of Dixon who now live in Bay City, Professor Baldwin was superintendent of schools in North Dixon for many years and both he and Mrs. Baldwin are held in the highest love and esteem by their wide circle of old friends here.

Their daughter, Mrs. Harold Hyde, was with them for the event and the day was a very happy one. They were visited with flowers and messages, deluged from friends and with gifts.

CLASSES URGED TO ATTEND MEETING—

Members of the Young Men's and Women's classes of the First Methodist church are urged to meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Clara Shaffer, 215 Hennepin avenue, for a short business meeting. It is extremely important that everyone attending these classes be present at the session.

MOTORED TO ROCKFORD TO HEAR DR. GORDON—

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Goodsell and Mrs. Thos. Ames, the latter's mother, motored to Rockford Sunday to head Dr. Gordon of the Congregational church.

SPEND WEEK END IN DIXON WITH MOTHER—

Miss Clara Gwen Bardwell came down from Rockford for a week end visit with her mother, Mrs. H. U. Bardwell.

ANOTHER SILLY INCONSISTENCY

We, along with others, occasionally have noted that the present powers in Washington are bent upon getting everybody's private business out on the table to be mullied over by a curious public, the private damage exceeding the public good.

Our error has been in being all-inclusive. They are not bent upon getting everybody's business out for the public to see.

Chester Davis, administrator of the AAA, strongly resists the requests of Senator Vandenberg and Representative Taber for the names of all farmers who have received more than $10,000 a year in benefit payments under the AAA.

This is almost, but not quite, a parallel to the demands made by the security and exchange commission for information from corporations paying more than $15,000 per annum in salaries. Corporations objected and set forth their objections. They said the persons involved would be advertised among extortionists, they would be subject to numberless requests and demands from which they should have protection, and the information would set going incessant bickering and jealousies within corporations and would give competitors opportunities to make trouble in each other's organizations.

Anybody who ever hired more than two persons at one time for similar work knows the truth of most of this, and anybody who is known to have any money in a bank knows the truth of the rest of it.

Yet the imitators of the soviet desire to put us on a soviet basis and let every man's private affairs be undressed and placed in a goldfish bowl.

Foregoing arguments were set aside as worthy of no consideration.

Seizure of telegrams concerning private business is a piece off the same cloth, and it is comparable to the postoffice having the privilege of opening everybody's mail to obtain information that may be used as a public whip by soapbox speakers on the market squares of the country.

Then comes the silly inconsistency. What we have been describing is private business and lawfully conducted business. The representative from New York and the senator from Michigan have made a request only concerning payment of money out of public funds. For instance, many county governments throughout the country are required to publish a statement showing who has drawn money from the public treasury and what it has been for. That isn't a bad principle in the use of public funds. When we step up a step into state government, there is more covering up, and when we get into the federal government there is a lot of covering up.

But the AAA is at issue as a matter of legislation and the representative and senator desired to obtain information concerning a beneficiary who was paid $219,825 in two years for not raising 14,587 hogs. They wanted to know about a cotton contract that involved payment of $168,000 for not planting 7000 acres.

The department of agriculture set forth its reason for keeping secret these contracts in a letter to Chairman Jones of the house committee on agriculture:

"The adjustment administration has attempted to protect the interests of individual contract signers by withholding public announcements on individual contract figures. These contracts were an agreement between the secretary of agriculture and the individual producer was entitled to confidential treatment of the contract information.

"It is apparent that unethical use might be made of this contract information if it were made public and fell into the hands of those who might wish to exploit the contract signers commercially or otherwise."

If a person's dealings with the government by which he receives in excess of $10,000 a year from the government is something that should be protected from public view, then certainly private business and the amounts private corporations pay to employees is ten times more entitled to individual and corporate privacy.

Although public business is vastly different from private business, we incline to support the department of agriculture in its protection of contracts with private individuals unless there is suspicion of fraud. Even then the cure lies within the powers of the government, without exposing all the transactions to the public gaze to satisfy the curious and to make mischief.

As the situation shapes up, however, it becomes just another silly inconsistency such as has characterized the Roosevelt administration from its beginning.

NEED FOR RELIEF

As towns and cities in the eastern United States fight their way back to normal in the wake of the worst flood disaster of many decades, the real problem of the devastation looms ahead—rehabilitation.

Food and medical supplies, rushed by the American Red Cross and other agencies, have met the emergency needs. Now comes the tremendous problem of restoring clothing, household goods, and provisions to thousands who not only are homeless, but penniless.

It is a challenge facing the American people as a body. This is everyone's battle. No contribution can be too large or too small with long arduous days ahead. It is a fine commentary on American life that the people of one section always have responded to the distress calls of another. Let there be no failure on our part to meet the exigencies of this appeal.

THE TIMMY WITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The mushroom drum was strange to see. "It's plenty good enough for me," exclaimed the big grasshopper. Shortly you may see it break.

"I'll bang on it until it does, and then I will not mind, because the ground holds lots of mushrooms, and another one I'll take."

"Oh, let me hit it," Goldy said. The hopper answered, "Go ahead. I think it will last longer, if the thumping's left to you."

"You give the thing a good, sound whack. Then let the others have a crack. I'll show you tots some clever drumming, when you all are through."

In 'bout a half an hour each one stepped up and had a little fun. Wee Duncy, in the meantime grabbed the cricket's violin.

Across the strings he pulled the bow, and Goldy loudly shouted, "Oh! Between you and the drum, there's just a chatter and a din."

"Well," answered Duncy, "I can't be just right at everything, you see. Now, listen, everybody. What's the 'ump, ump' that I hear?

"I'll bet, as sure as I am born, that it is coming from a horn. Before we're through, our eardrums will be cracked, I sadly fear."

"Your guess about the horn was right. Look over there! My, what a sight!" said Windy. "There's a great big frog. A horn's around his waist."

"He's blowing it like everything." Then to the frog he yelled, "Hey, bring that horn right over here. We'd like to look at it. Make haste!"

The frog hopped up and said, "Okay. Just listen and you'll hear me play." Then came a lot more "ump, ump, umps." Fair Dotty cried, "My land!"

"Three funny instruments we've found, and each one makes a real strange sound. If they will get together, we can have a crazy band."

Washington Parade

By CARLISLE BARGERSON

Washington—This is purely imaginary but not so exaggerated as you might think. The scene is the Black Lobby Investigating Committee. It is engaged in looking over the telegrams which have been seized. There is Senator Black, that is to say, Hugo himself but about whom the girl feature writers, and even the men, now write little human interest stories of how he was a cracker-jack county prosecuting attorney down in Alabama; there is Senator Minton of Indiana, Senator Schwellenbach of Washington, whose admiration for Hugo knows no bounds and he hopes he will be as good some day, and then there is Senator Gibson, the Republican on the committee of Vermont. The Judge doesn't know what it is all about. But the Judge does know that the utilities are on the pan in the country and he always comes in after a utility witness has been raked over the coals and puts in his questions so he will appear on the record as being, although a Republican, against the utilities too.

What the Judge doesn't know is that the utilities are simply a dodge for the three musketeers, Black, Schwellenbach and Minton, to be dragged out every time they, in the pursuit of their real undertaking which is to show up the enemies of the New Deal, get into trouble. The Judge doesn't seem to be able to sense this at all. All he knows is that the current seems to be running, rightly or wrongly, against the utilities, so he is against them, too—although a Republican. That is his point.

Now with this background, the show begins: "Looka what I've found," shouts Black. "It's a telegram from Senator X to his sweetie."

"Lemme see," Schwellenbach and Minton chorus. The Judge comes over to see himself, with a surge he has not felt in his veins for years. The telegram reads:

"Will be able to see you tonight. The madame is out of town."

"Ho, ho, ho," chorus Black, Minton and Schwellenbach. "I never thought old Senator X did those things."

"Quite amusing," observes Judge Gibson. "Oh, here is one," shouts Senator Minton. "Listen to this: Baltimore Distillery—I will take the five cases of Scotch as per your terms. What a good one we've got on him."

"What a good one we've got on him," agree Black and Schwellenbach. "It is a good one on him, isn't it?" agrees the Judge.

By this time, the temples of the committee members are beating in heat. Never have they enjoyed, in all of their public careers, such a spree as this. Practically they fumble through the seized telegrams, turning from one to another with an eagerness that would frighten a normal person.

"Oh, colleagues, here's a bird," feverishly announces Sen. Schwellenbach, his tongue washing his lips. "This is really the choicest morsel I have ever picked up. Did you know that Senator Black was having trouble with his wife? He is in the dog house. Read this one." The committee members bend over it, their tongues hanging out of their mouths.

The average flight on domestic air lines in 1935 was 420.25 miles in length; in 1934, it was 407 miles.

Economic Pill-Rolling

By GUS W. DYER

Professor of Economics and Sociology,
Vanderbilt University

Let's clear up at least one point in current discussion of government's relation to business—the difference between regulation and direction or management. Regulation is a judicial function and belongs to the science of government. Direction of business, under modern complex conditions, is a highly specialized economic activity. Business skill is as highly specialized as surgery, law or medicine. It requires special practical experience. Government is in no way fitted to perform the function of directing business activities and when it enters this field it becomes a destructive, stupid bull in an enormously expensive china shop.

Those in charge of government are supposed to be trained specialists in governmental regulation. This presumption frequently does violent injury to the fact but we cannot consistently abandon it.

Furthermore, while the American system of industrial freedom places upon government the duty to regulate business activities in the interest of freedom and fair play, government is given no power to direct the economic activities of private business. This sharp distinction is implied in the constitution.

There are three essential factors in the production of wealth: Land or natural agents, capital or general equipment, and man or the workers. The production of wealth is the result of a successful combination of these.

Table setting is discussed at great length. How to act in public places is usually explained in full. They tell you to make polite conversation with whomever is unfortunate enough to sit next to you at dinner but they don't say what to talk about. If you are a socialite who does nothing but read the latest books, go to the theater, and art exhibits, play bridge, and so forth, very well and good.

Civil Service Assn. Seeks Injunction to End Horner Collection

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—A suit for an injunction to restrain five state officials from collecting assessments from two groups of civil service employees to help finance Governor Henry Horner's campaign for re-election has been filed in Circuit Court by the Civil Service Employees Protective Association.

The association, organized in 1928 and claiming 2,700 of the state's 5,000 civil service employees as members, charged efforts were being made to collect a $200,000 fund in this manner to support Horner's candidacy.

Attorney Michael P. Ryan, who filed the suit, said the association was non-political.

The injunction was sought against five state officials and asked they be restrained from collecting such assessments from employees in the department of agriculture and the Chicago state hospital for the insane.

TENNIS BOOM FORESEEN ON DIXON COURT

Reorganization of the Town Team is Rumored

Tennis made its debut in Dixon Sunday, despite cold winds which swept over the Dixon high school courts where net enthusiasts were practicing their strokes for the coming summer months.

Considerable talk is circulating around Dixon that the old Dixon tennis team of 1934 will be reorganized and arranged a schedule of matches with neighboring towns. To locate the best talent in the city, an elimination tournament would be held the team being composed of those who went the farthest in the tournament.

No definite arrangements have yet been made for a tournament of this kind but several of the more prominent players in town are said to be behind the move and action is expected in about two weeks if weather conditions are favorable.

Enjoyed Good Summer

In 1934 the Dixon tennis team journeyed to Sterling, Freeport, Rockford, Belvidere, Rochelle and other nearby communities winning a good percentage of their matches. Among those who figured on the team in that summer were Ted Wallin and Ken Smith, both considered top flight players here. These men would form a nucleus for the reorganization of the team, and further information concerning reviving a tennis team here may be obtained from them.

Dixon high school has no organized tennis team but each year chooses some of those from its enrollment known to have considerable court prestige, to form a team representing the Purple and White in the annual N. C. I. conference matches. The conference meet was held on the Dixon courts last spring, Dixon winning the doubles crown and DeKalb the singles title. DeKalb, with more points however, won the meet. On the high school tennis team last spring were such players as Bob Evans and "Red" Brown.

RED WINGS SIX GETS STANLEY CUP POSITION

To Play Americans Or Maple Leafs In Series

New York, March 30.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings had the National Hockey league championship safely in the satchel today and were looking ahead to the Stanley Cup finals to be played with either the Toronto Maple Leafs or the New York Americans.

The Red Wings downed the Montreal Maroons last night 2-1 to sweep the first three games in their three-out-of-five series, allowing the Maroons but one goal in the three contests. It was the first time since 1929 that the series had been decided in that fashion and it was the second time in three years that the Wings had won the championship.

The Wings' opponent for the first game of the Stanley Cup finals which are scheduled to begin April 2 may be decided tomorrow night when the Maple Leafs move into Madison Square Garden to battle the Americans.

The Leafs won the first game, 3 to 1, of the two-out-of-three game series in Toronto Saturday night. If the Americans win tomorrow night the third and final game will be played Thursday in Toronto.

Illinois Wesleyan Host To Illinois U. On Baseball Field

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—Illinois Wesleyan will play host to the University of Illinois tomorrow for the first of seven baseball games on the Illinois intercollegiate conference schedule this week.

Wesleyan also will play two games at Washington University, St. Louis, Friday and Saturday. Wisconsin will play at State Normal Thursday and Saturday and at Bradley Friday. In the other game, Illinois college will face Illinois at Champaign.

From U. S. Department of Commerce figures on the amount of money paid annually for toys, it may be assumed that about $20 out of every $1000 of American income is spent for children's toys.

LITTLE WILL NOT PROTECT LINKS CROWN

May Compete This Spring In Open Competition

BY ALAN GOULD,
Associated Press Sports Editor.
Augusta, Ga., March 30.—(AP)—Having mopped up the amateur fields at home and abroad for two straight years, it seems altogether logical to William Lawson Little, Jr., to seek faster company and turn his big golfing guns in the direction of open competition this spring.

He's definitely decided, he said today, to pass up defense of the British amateur crown so that he can compete in the American open at Baltusrol, N. J., early in June. The Californian and his bride hope to take a belated honeymoon trip to England so that he can make a second bid for the British open crown, but this is only a possibility.

Not Necessarily Bored.

Here for his second start in the Augusta national invitation tournament, in which he finished sixth last year with 288, the amateur king's prospective plan of campaign doesn't necessarily mean (1) that he has become bored with the monotony of conquests among the simon-pure or (2) that he has reached any decision as to the opportunities to be derived from turning "business man" golfer.

Since he registered two "little slams" in amateur competition, there have been recurrent reports that the Californian contemplated making a career of the game. Unquestionably he has had attractive inducements. He still has, but the main answer has yet to be given to the question concerning his future. He's a syndicate writer now, pounding out his own stuff and going in for "candid camera" studies on the side. He has already had one light "brush" with the U. S. G. A. over the extent to which he can offer instructive matter or helpful hints to duffers in his newspaper stories. This situation is still an issue that seems to concern John G. Jackson, the new president of the National Association.

No Significance.

If there's any significance in Little's decision to pass up the British amateur, it isn't immediately apparent. "This year I'm especially anxious to see what I can do in the American open," he said today. "The dates for this and the British amateur are such that I could not play in both without making a trans-Atlantic flight, so I'll go abroad later, if at all."

Little has competed in only five open tournaments. He captured one of them, the Northern California open, two years ago. He first played in the American open in 1934. Just off the boat from England, he broke his favorite driver on the first round but despite this bad start he was low amateur and going strong at the finish. Last year he was fourth in the British open.

PREDICT TALLY RECORD WILL BE BROKEN BY ABC

Indianapolis, March 30.—(AP)—Although scoring declined yesterday at the American Bowling Congress tournament record of 3,199 will be broken before the 1936 classic winds up on April 14.

That mark was set by Tea Shops of Milwaukee in 1927.

The prediction is based on the high scores shot thus far even though only a small percentage of the nation's crack teams have rolled their sets.

Only a few changes in the first ten scorers were recorded yesterday. Felix Gellhausen and Frank Seaton of Elizabeth, N. J., grabbed off eighth place in the doubles with 1,270. Pat Dalia of the same city gained a tie for ninth place in the singles with 678. The best team total of the day was 2,901 by Pulaski Coal of Chicago.

Teams from eleven states will occupy the alleys today and tonight.

MAY SOCK DEAN FOR HOMER

Viral Davis, St. Louis Cardinals' catcher, promises to turn pitcher when Dizzy Dean walks into the Cards' clubhouse at Bradenton, Fla., and the Californian and his bride hope to take a belated honeymoon trip to England so that he can make a second bid for the British open crown, but this is only a possibility.

TALLEST TEAMS WILL BATTLE IN OLYMPIC FINAL

Six Foot, Two Inches Arkansas Team is Among Tallest

New York, March 30.—(AP)—Two of the biggest teams in the United States—and both of them among the best—will be seen in action this week in the final Olympic basketball tryouts at Madison Square Garden. Members of the University of Arkansas team, one of five college entries, are tall enough to contest the claim of the McPherson, Kan. Refiners to being the country's tallest team.

The Refiners have long Joe Fortenberry, who stretches up six feet, eight inches even when he isn't trying to reach the basket, but their average is about the same as that of the Razorbacks who range from 6-2 to 6-5. Drawn in opposite brackets, the teams, both of which specialize in high scoring, may meet in the finals.

The draw for the eight-team tournament pits the Razorbacks Southwest conference champions and victors over Western Kentucky Teachers in the district 3-4 Olympic elimination last week, against the Hollywood Universals, runners-up to McPherson in the recent National A. A. U. championships at Denver. The Refiners encounter Temple University. Other first round games are University of Washington vs De Paul of Chicago in the upper half and the Denver Safeway, national Y. M. C. A. champions, against Utah State in the lower half.

First round games will be played Friday evening.

CANDIDATES TO WIND UP FIGHT IN METROPOLIS

Take Campaigns Into Cook County for Last Fortnight

Chicago, March 30.—(AP)—Seekers of Republican and Democratic nominations for state offices in the April 14 primary election laid plans today to wind up their campaigns in Cook county after extensive downstate stumping.

Gov. Henry Horner, campaigning for the Democratic renomination, was scheduled to finish his downstate itinerary today at Effingham and Bloomington and to make his Chicago campaign bow tomorrow at a loop hotel.

His opponent, Dr. Herman H. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, returned to Chicago, having completed his downstate tour. With him were other members of the "regular" organization slate, including John Stelle for lieutenant-governor, John C. Martin for treasurer, Edwin V. Champion and Lewis M. Long for congressmen-at-large; Attorney General Otto Kerner and Auditor Edward J. Barrett, both for renomination.

United States Senator William D. Mitchell of Beardstown was scheduled to make an address over a Chicago radio station tonight on behalf of the Bundesen slate, with five downstate stations rebroadcasting his remarks.

Both Claim Victory

Dr. Bundesen predicted in an interview that the organization candidates would "come up to the Cook county line with a comfortable majority" from downstate voters.

Gov. Horner's headquarters issued the prediction that he would win by "between 500,000 and 600,000 votes." His running mates are John E. Cassidy of Peoria for lieutenant governor, Joseph T. Spiker of Chicago for state treasurer and Homer Mat Adams of Urbana for auditor.

Wayland Brooks, seeking the Republican nomination for governor, spent Sunday at his farm near Wedron, in LaSalle county, and planned to finish his downstate campaign with addresses today at Elgin and Rockford, tomorrow at Woodstock and Waukegan and Wednesday at Aurora and Joliet. His Cook county schedule called for three addresses nightly for ten days.

Denies Horner's Claim

In a radio address yesterday on behalf of the regular Democratic organization slate, Rep. Benjamin J. Adamowski of Chicago, majority leader of the lower House of the state legislature, said:

"Gov. Horner takes credit for having increased the state school distributive fund from $10,000,000 to $13,000,000," but declared the governor "advised legislative leaders that $10,000,000 was sufficient, and that he was opposed to any increase."

Former Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, seeking the Republican nomination for governor, said yesterday he would divide this week between Chicago and downstate. He was scheduled for meetings at DeKalb Wednesday, Chicago Thursday, Chicago Friday noon, Rockford Friday night and Willow Springs, in Cook county, Saturday.

Rochelle.—The silver cups and ribbons to be awarded on the evening of the ninth annual spelling bee are on display at Hackett's jewelry store on Cherry avenue. To date many schools have enrolled, listing several score contestants. This exceeds the number turned in at this time last year. Undoubtedly this contest will be the largest one ever held in Rochelle.

Final steps are being taken this week to make up the program which includes the exhibits at the high school, dance numbers, singing and the lunch for the teachers and contestants. With the enrollment increasing as it is, it is necessary that the rural school teachers send in their contestants at once. This is necessary because reserved seats tickets must be sent of the teacher the week of the contest for the parents and friends of the children enrolled. In order to determine the number of seats to be allotted to each school it will be necessary to close enrollments to the contest Friday, April 17. All enrollments not in the hands of the chairman on April 17 will be refused entrance to the contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil W. May have returned from a trip to Kansas City and points in the southwest.

Otto Ventler has sold his stock and refreshment stand and residence stand at Ashton to Mrs. Muriel Sullivan who will take over the business. Mrs. Sullivan has been employed as bookkeeper and cashier for the Joseph S. Askvig garage here and is a widow of the late John D. Sullivan, state highway officer.

The local Auxiliary was represented at the regional patriotic conference held at the Congress Hotel in Chicago Thursday, by Mrs. Ruby Glaser, national defense chairman of the Legion Auxiliary, and Mrs. Isabel Klewin, Americanism chairman.

Fred Horner of 1110 Lincoln Highway, freshman at Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Ia., has been awarded his class numerals and a sweater as a member of the Freshman five. Horner performed at forward and impressed observers as one of the best marksmen on the Little Purple squad.

Horner is eligible for varsity competition as a sophomore next year. Cornell loses seven lettermen by graduation in June from the Midwestern conference championship team.

The Misses Rosa and Lucille Petri with their mother, Mrs. Theresa Petri motored to Tiskilwa on Sunday and were among the fifty relatives and friends who partook of a delicious dinner, given in honor of the 49th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gingery. A program followed the dinner and the bride and groom of years ago were presented with many beautiful gifts and wishes were extended for many more years of health and happiness.

PRINCETON--BUREAU CO.

Princeton, March 30.—Twelve of Bureau County's crack checker players will go into action tonight at 7 o'clock when play starts in the checker tournament conducted by J. C. Robb, Bureau County director of WPA recreation projects, at the recreational center in the Virden building on South Main street in Princeton.

Besides the tournament in Princeton there will be similar meets held in the three other community WPA recreation centers at Spring Valley, Ladd and Dalzell. There will be competition between the four WPA centers leading up to a county championship match.

Mr. Robb reports widespread interest in WPA recreation projects at all four centers in Bureau county, both among boys and girls and among many of the business and professional men of the various towns. At Spring Valley, ping pong, boxing and wrestling have been included on the program of indoor sports thus far, and the center is being extensively used every afternoon and evening.

In Princeton, ping pong and checkers have been the most popular sport thus far, but boxing and wrestling have proven interesting to many of the boys. Girls as well as boys are interested in the program and Tuesday and Thursday afternoon following school, have been set aside for girls' recreation.

The contestants in the checker tournament this evening are John Warfield, Charles Pieri, Clarence Sapp, Ray Saunders, George Marston, Richard Puyeur, Steve Puyeur, Dale Brown, Henry Asche, August Pierson, Wilbur Pierson and Fred Prather.

Camera Hobbies of Passengers Caused Plane's Fatal Fall

Mexico City, March 30.—(AP)—A theory that a desire by ten European tourists to photograph the Popocatepetl and Ixtachihuatl volcanoes led to the plane crash in which they and four other persons died has been advanced officially as an explanation for the disaster.

An inspector for the secretariat of commerce, after investigating the wreckage of the plane and finding a number of cameras opened for use, reported a belief that the pilot acceded to a request from the passengers to fly close to the volcanoes.

Caught in a current of cold air sweeping down from the peaks, the inspector said, the chartered tri-motor ship probably was dashed to the ground where it burst into flames, killing all ten tourists, an aviation official and the three members of the crew.

During 1935 air lines operated by American companies carried 860,761 passengers, an increase of approximately 50 per cent over the previous year.

TO BOOST GUNNING

A motor caravan of some 25 automobiles will leave Princeton at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning for a 300-mile tour of the northern part of the state of Illinois in the interest of the nomination of Senator T. P. Gunning, who is Republican candidate of the governor of Illinois. The tour is planned by the "Business Men's Gunning for Governor" club.

The caravan and a sound truck will visit Dixon, Freeport, Polo, Rockford, Rochelle, Mendota, LaSalle and intervening villages and towns. The plan is to appear in towns which Senator Gunning will be unable to reach in his speaking campaign downstate.

BOOSTER CLUB MEETS

The first meeting of the Princeton Booster club of 1936 will be held tonight at Truison's hall. A covered dish supper will be served previous to the meeting and all members and their families are urged to be present. Rev. Merrill S. Tope, pastor of the Methodist church, will be the guest speaker.

RED CROSS APPEAL

Leonard Saxum, chairman of the Bureau County chapter of the Red Cross, this week issued an appeal for donations of money from this county to be used in relief work being carried on by the Red Cross in the flood stricken areas of the eastern part of the United States. Each branch of the Bureau county chapter has been asked to raise money for this work. Individual contributions can be left with George Zearing, at the Citizens First National Bank, or with the local chairman.

FARMERS WILL DECIDE ON CONTINUED SCHOOL

Session at Dixon High School This Evening May Be Last One

Marketing of poultry is the subject that will conclude the course on "Poultry Production" studied by Lee county farmers every Monday night here the past five weeks. At the meeting tonight, farmers will decide whether or not they wish to continue the sessions at least one week longer for a study of soybeans.

For the past ten weeks the evening class has met regularly with one or two exceptions, every Monday night to study first "Hog Production" and then "Poultry Production" each session lasting about two hours. During the winter months weather interfered with attendance at the hog production survey, and one or two classes were abandoned. Since the poultry production course began however, a large attendance has been the rule.

John N. Weiss, instructor of agriculture at Dixon high school has been the leader of the discussions and reports that interest is so high in the course that some farmers wish to continue it a week longer in order to examine their soybean problems arising from the fact that the sudden onset of winter prevented many from harvesting last year's crop. The crop is still in the fields and apparently none the worse for wear in many cases.

Movie Offer is no Lure to Expectant Father, Aged 96

New Bern, N. C., March 30.—An offer of free medical attention and a possible movie contract are no particular inducements for George Isaac Hughes, 96, and his wife to go to New York for the birth of their second child within two years.

Hughes said New York specialists made this offer—including transportation and all expenses—but that he and his 25-year-old wife prefer to remain here so that she can be under the care of a regular family doctor.

The specialists came here 15 months ago after Franklin Roosevelt Hughes was born and confirmed Hughes' claim as America's oldest father. The second baby is expected in May.

ENTER THIS EASY-TO-WIN CONTEST

J. Paul Kuhn of Batavia, Kane County, is a candidate for Governor of Illinois.

This young man, a successful lawyer, farmer, and business man, with a proved capacity for able and honest public service, has many qualifications for Governor—so many that among his friends there have been good-natured arguments as to which ones are actually the most important.

Some friends say that his staunch stand for lower taxes should insure his election; others insist that his honesty and genuine friendliness make him the ideal man for the office; while yet others point to his record in the service of the people of Illinois.

To arrive at a decision, members of the J. Paul Kuhn-Farmer-Governor Club of Batavia—his life-long, hometown friends—are conducting this $1,000.00 cash prize contest.

The contest is easy to enter. It costs nothing. It takes only a minute of your time. There are no tedious details. Here is all that you do:

Below is an Official Entry Blank which lists 50 of the reasons why friends of J. Paul Kuhn believe he should be elected Governor. Read them carefully and mark a cross (X) in front of the TEN reasons you consider the most important. Write or print your name and address plainly at the bottom of the blank and mail the entire blank to J. Paul Kuhn-Farmer-Governor Club, Batavia, Illinois.

Both men and women are eligible. Contestants must live in Illinois. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight of April 13, 1936. Prizes will be awarded May 13, 1936. After all entries are received, three judges, prominent citizens of Illinois, will select the ten reasons which they consider to be most important. The winners will be those contestants whose selections most nearly agree with those of the judges. The judges' decision shall be final. In the event of a tie, duplicate prizes will be awarded. Names of all winners will be publicly announced.

RED HOUSE, COMMUNITY PROJECT GREAT FAILURE

New Deal Communistic Promotion is Costly Futile Experiment

Washington, March 30—(AP)—The Republican national committee accused the New Deal today of being the sponsor of farm communistic which are "Communist in conception."

"President Roosevelt's resettlement administration," the committee said in a statement, "is establishing in West Virginia and other states communal farms which follow the Russian pattern, in that each member of the community will work on cooperative projects and share in the proceeds."

"A community farm just outside of Charleston, W. Va., supplies the latest example of what these projects will be."

"They call this community Red House."

Project Near Failure
The government, the statement said, charged off a million dollars on its books for this community in which 153 families who formerly were on relief are living. The "model" homes, it said, already are "showing cracked walls," the land which was bought by the Federal emergency relief administration at $29 an acre is found to be "very much worn out" and the "homesteaders exist at a minimum subsistence level."

"Communist in conception, a community whose earnings were to go into a common treasury from which payments were to be made on the under-block structures which make the town look like a mining camp, the project is still in the Santa Claus stage. There is no money coming in from any source. The 'earnings' have not materialized," the statement asserted.

No Payments On Debts
No family is paying anything on its mortgage debt, the statement added, because the relief pay has been cut. The homesteaders were declared to be "losing patience" because "they live in the houses but see little hope of ever owning them."

Yesterday and today also saw several other utterances bearing on the coming campaign struggle. They came mostly from Republicans and members of minor parties; Democratic leaders held their fire for the time being.
Former President Hoover denied reports in Washington political circles that he was backing Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) for the presidential nomination.
A statement issued through a secretary said Hoover "has taken no part in the encouragement of any candidate" and "is engaged solely in fighting the New Deal."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Reality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 29.

The Golden Text was, "The word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you" (1 Peter 1:25).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people" (Matthew 9:35).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus' works established his claim to the Messiahship. In reply to John's inquiry, 'Art thou he that should come,' Jesus returned an affirmative reply, recounting his works instead of referring to his doctrine, confident that this exhibition of the divine power to heal would fully answer the question" (pp. 121-2).

Artificial Arms Will Be Grafted On 16-Year-Old

Nutley, N. J., March 30—(AP)—Sixteen-year-old John Seeley's hope for artificial restoration of the arms he lost last November under the wheels of a train rested today on application of a 65-year-old surgical grafting principle.

A Newark orthopedic surgeon, starting with an operation at Beth Israel hospital next month, expects to apply the discovery of an Italian physician, Vanghetti, about 1870, using muscle grafts to connect artificial limbs.

"I'm all set," said the young patient, "I'm just hoping I won't have to miss any time in school."

The surgeon, who has asked that his name be withheld, has been engaged by the crippled children's committee of the Nutley Elks lodge. As he described the operation, a flap of the patient's skin is drawn into a tube and inserted under the muscle. This operation will be performed twice on each of the stumps of Seeley's arms.

When the tissues have healed, he said, cineplastic arms would be attached to the flaps. The artificial arms and fingers then would be operated with the flexing of the muscles.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Toby Ryan, 19, works behind the jewelry counter of a large Mackinac department store. She poses for a photograph to be used in a store advertisement and MARY HARRY, the photographer, tells her she has a "camera face."

Discharged from the store due to the scheming of jealous MARY HARRY, Toby has difficulty finding another job. Then she meets Harry Hiett and he sends her to HENRY BLAKE, manager of a model agency. Toby registers at the agency, secures work as a model.

At a style show where she is modeling, she meets CAROL, who also sees wealthy TIM JAMIESON who has been trying to persuade her to dine with him. Impulsively she agrees.

CHAPTER XVII
FOR the rest of that week Toby saw Tim Jamieson or had some word from him every day.

She had dinner together twice and then Toby had an evening assignment and had to work. She made it up to Tim by lunching with him next day—a luncheon at a hotel where Toby, whenever she had happened to walk past, had looked curiously at the men and women entering or leaving. She was sure they must be very rich or celebrities of some sort. Toby had never expected to enter those doors herself.

She was impressed by the fact that the head waiter seemed to know Tim, greeted him effectively and called him "Mr. Jamieson." But then, it was that way most of the places they went.

Tim sent her an enormous box of roses, long stemmed and fragrant. He said they reminded him of Toby as she had looked in the rose-colored evening dress she had worn in the fashion show. The roses were beautiful and Toby, lifting them from the box, had buried her face in the blossoms, drinking in their sweetness. But the card that came with them was more precious. She took it from the little white envelope and read: "To remind you that a certain lad can't stop thinking about you—Tim."

The flowers faded and drooped after a few days, but Toby kept the card.

She had to break a date with Bill Brandt. She was sorry about that, but Tim had promised to take her to a new place and, of course, she could see Bill any time. She rather wanted to see Bill, to tell him all the things she had been doing lately. Bill was such an old friend. Her very oldest. It didn't seem right to Toby that, when life had become so exciting, Bill shouldn't know about it.

It was Harriet Holm, though, in whom she confided. Harriet had seen Tim and agreed with Toby that he was handsome.

The two girls sat in a restaurant a few doors from the building where the Models' League had its office. Harriet broke the edge from a butter cake and said, "He certainly seems to have fallen for you. And in a hurry, too!"

"Well," Toby said, "I wasn't really in such a hurry. I mean I told you how we kept meeting each other, just by accident. And I wouldn't give him my telephone number or tell him where I lived or anything. But it didn't seem to make any difference. I'd go some place—and there he'd be. It seems funny now when I think about it."

"I suppose," Harriet interrupted, "that sometimes it happens that way. You see someone and decide right away that's the right one for you."

Toby nodded solemnly. "Yes," she said, "sometimes I suppose it does."

"It wasn't that way with Clyde and me," Harriet went on. "I met him several times at parties and places before he even asked for a date."

"Clyde? Who's he?"

"Haven't I told you about Clyde?" Toby shook her head.

Harriet said, "That's funny. I guess I thought everybody knew about him. We're going to be married—well, as soon as everything gets settled. His name's Sabin—Clyde Sabin. As soon as he gets back—he's on a business trip—I want you to meet him. Maybe we can go out together some evening— you and Tim and Clyde and I."

"I'd love to," Toby said. "Oh, Harriet, I didn't know you were going to be married! Why didn't you tell me?"

The other smiled. "I don't know."

"Aren't you excited about it?"

"Yes. When I can believe it's really true. You see, we've waited quite a while. I hope it won't be much longer. Maybe—maybe it will be June. Clyde said just before he left that he thought it could be in June."

"Tell me about him. What does he do?"

"Well, he has quite an important job. He works for a company that makes office equipment—adding machines and addressographs and all things like that. They send him out of town a lot and he brings in big contracts. He's not exactly good looking—at least, I don't think so. But he's big and he dresses well and, altogether, I think he's pretty grand."

Toby said, "I'm sure he is." She was surprised, though, at what Harriet had said. Toby had supposed it was Clyde's wedding, with most young people it seemed to be that. But if Clyde Sabin had such a good job, it couldn't be money. She wondered what was delaying the wedding plans, but she didn't want to seem curious or ask questions.

So she turned to another subject. "There's something I've been wanting to ask you, Harriet," she said. "I'd like to move from the place where I'm living. It's so dingy and sort of horrible. Not very convenient, either. Of course, it's cheap and I was glad to find it when I was working at Bergman's, but I can afford something better now. I was wondering if you might know of any place—"

Harriet nodded. "You ought to be able to find something," she agreed. "Before I found my place I think I looked at every room that was for rent within a mile either way. Let's see, I ought to be able to remember—"

She stopped suddenly. "Why," she exclaimed, "I don't know why I didn't think of it before. It's yes, of course, it would be all right!"

"What would be?"

"Just this. Why don't you move in with me? You see, I've been trying to save some money lately. I've got to have some new clothes when I'm married, some really nice ones. I'd be glad to have you come in with me if you'd like to. It will cut my rent in half, and be cheaper for you, too. I'm sure we'd get along together—"

THE MODERN GENII

The Evil Genii, according to Arabian mythology, were the offspring of fire. They took form from flame and smoke and appeared as huge serpents, hideous giants or monsters, to wreak destruction for the Suleyman kings, after which they again became invisible.

Carbon monoxide, the deadly gas from the automobile exhaust, is the invisible killer of today, which, like the Evil Genii of old, causes great waste of human life, mainly among thoughtless motorists.

Most cases occur on cold mornings when drivers, in warming up their engines, leave garage doors and windows closed. The gas strikes with little or no warning and in a very few minutes death results.

Also many cases occur in winter driving in closed cars when, due to a defective exhaust, the gas seeps up into the car. It is tasteless, odorless and invisible and as deadly as any war gas ever invented.

During the last few years there have been around 600 carbon-monoxide deaths annually. This figure represents five times as many deaths as occurred ten years ago from this cause. Beware this insidious killer!

DAILY HEALTH

PAVLOV'S PSYCHOLOGY

The story of Pavlov's discovery of the conditioned reflex is immensely interesting and its significance far-reaching. His psychological observations on the behavior of dogs have been applied to the psychology of education, in the mechanism of learning and in the interpretation of neurosthenia.

Pavlov was primarily interested in the physiology of digestion. He experimented with dogs, studying the different kinds of salivary and other secretions which were evoked by different kinds of foods. Normally a dog will begin to salivate when it sees, smells or tastes food. The dog does not ordinarily salivate in response to sounds. Pavlov, however, observed that this dogs, subsequent to a period of experimental experience, began to salivate when they heard certain noises associated with the preparation and distribution of food in certain containers.

The evoking of salivation by sound puzzled Pavlov. At first he called this a phantom phenomenon. Later, however, he evolved the more adequate explanation of conditioned reflex, or association.

Pavlov found that he could associate an extensive variety of stimuli with salivation in the dog. Thus, by way of illustration, if a given note were sounded when the dog was fed, and this was repeated several times, salivation could later be caused by merely sounding that particular note. It was found that the dog is more critical of pure tones than the best human musicians.

One noteworthy fact bearing on hysteria was observed by Pavlov and his students. They found that when a dog is persistently given too difficult a task, his "education" fails him—that is, he loses, his previously acquired conditioned reflex and he undergoes what can be called moral degeneration and neurasthenia. He becomes quarrelsome, dirty and unmanageable. A prolonged rest cure is needed to restore him to his former good-tempered sanity.

"AMERICA"

(And more New Deal facts in answer to those in the March 25th edition and signed: Another Reader)

My native country, so grand and free,
But not the New Deal and poverty.
Of this we do not boast
For now it's spread from coast to coast.

We're coming out of depression slow
"Hoover" times were far better you know,
Of this so true there is no doubt,
Just look around, you'll soon find out.

These times it's easy to spend our cash,
New Deal taxes, mount up fast.
There's not much work, the poor man gets,
Unless he's one of the New Deal pets.

My noble countryman, I'm pleased to say,
You sure did slam that "Triple A"
And that so plainly now reveals,
One more of Delano's Brain Trust deals.

And all the good it might have brought,
When simmered down amounts to naught,
Why can't one see the truth so plain,
Twould hardly rack an infant's brain.

Let gladness swell the gentle breeze,
Forget the "Broken Pledges" please,
No doubt this fall, he'll make some more,
Before election day is o'er.

But people now are getting wise,
They'll vote this fall with open eyes,
The Lord will care for all if ill,
Likewise the man on Capitol Hill.

And as for Father Franklin D.
Why can't we all be good as he,
For none have been so perfect yet,
A little criticism they will not get.

Now in regard to those who drink,
One can't help knowing, if they stop and think,
Repeal has brought much vice and sin,
With respectable taverns where the young drop in.

Eleven to date have confessed we note,
Of selling to minors, and the ordinance broke,
A heavy penalty on each was laid,
Five dollars and costs, was all they paid.

"And the budget remains unbalanced."

THE SUNSET

The sun was hiding behind the hill,
And the evening coming too,
When Gol reached down a loving hand
And painted the sky anew.

There were stripes of gold and streaks of pink,
And splashes of purple bright,
With orange and blue intermingled there.

National Safety Council Drive Is Showing Success

Chicago, March 30—(AP)—The national safety council's drive to reduce traffic fatalities was given fresh impetus today by a report showing a 13 per cent decline in February deaths.

Although 1950 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents last month, the sharpest decrease for any month since 1931 was registered.

The February record offset January's increase and brought 1936 three per cent under the corresponding total for 1935. These figures were given:

	1936	1935
January	2,630	2,470
February	1,950	2,240
Total	4,580	4,710

BUILD UP FOR SPRING!

AFTER a hard winter, working indoors — weakened by frequent colds and coughs or other illness — most of us feel tired, worn-out... no pep.

It requires only a little effort to get back your old-time energy. Do this: Go to the drug store today and purchase a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is backed up by nearly 70 years of success.

It will increase the appetite and improve digestion so that food, the natural body-builder, will be digested and assimilated, for there is generally present in these cases loss of appetite and lack of sufficient nourishment. It also helps to put on solid flesh when the weight of the individual is below normal.

Many worn-out business men and women and rapidly growing boys and girls find the "Discovery" just what they need.

New size, tablets 50 cents, liquid $1.00. Large size, tablets or liquid $1.35.

A FARMER WRITES AN "AD" ABOUT DOUBLE-MELLOW OLD GOLDS!

Gentlemen:

I am an old man who knows what he likes. A hill farmer is a stubborn cuss, and when he takes to cigarettes when he's well gone by 60 years, he has good reasons for wanting those cigarettes. And for some time now I haven't touched any smoking but OLD GOLDS.

My brother's son got me on cigarettes, but the ones he gave me seemed too quick-burning. One day our general storekeeper stood me one of those Double-Mellow OLD GOLDS, made of prize crop tobaccos. And I had my first cigarette that burnt as slow and cool as my pipe, and that didn't leave a man's tongue stinging and biting like that other cigarette brand.

I've bought Double-Mellow OLD GOLDS ever since, and every pack has been the same. I know, because I'm blind, and we without eyes learn to taste and feel better than you who see.

Yours truly,
Jerry Hurley

P.S. My 16 year old niece, Betty, has typed this for me, just as I told it to her. The snapshot was taken by Betty's father.

Snapshot of Jerry Hurley taken last fall by his brother John. Jerry's farm is located on a mountainside, 8 miles from Wellsville, N.Y. (Post Office, Scio).

DOUBLE-MONEY-BACK OFFER

as made to smokers since Oct. 6, 1935

TAKE a sporting chance on a pack of Double-Mellow Old Golds. Smoke ten of the cigarettes. If you don't say they're the finest you've ever tasted, mail the package wrapper and the remaining ten cigarettes to us, any time before May 1st, 1936, and we'll send you double the price you paid for the full package, plus postage.
